Sovereignty & E- Commerce: Innovating & Reshaping the Borders of Indian Country	Feb. 2-3 Chandler, AZ	Many Native American tribes are pursuing business operated over the Internet, thus relieving some of the physical realities of modern, yet still remote, Indian country. These E-Commerce opportunities have not only created thriving economies, but they have also led to a tangled web of legal issues where state, tribal and federal laws and policies are colliding. The quick growth of E-Commerce in Indian Country has outpaced a general understanding of how Tribal Digital Sovereignty and E-Commerce law is intertwined with federal Indian law especially as it may relate to States' rights. The 2 day conference explores legal issues surrounding the development of E-Commerce in Indian Country.
